It Was Always Here Before You Noticed

It didn’t begin when you saw it.

It didn’t arrive at the moment of noticing.

What appeared had already been there.

No starting point.

No first moment.

It was always here before you noticed.